'Keep with your heart a place where dreams may grow...'

Thirty two members of F. G. Miller High School's Class of '92 marched through a gymnasium lined with pink, blue and white streamers and onto a stage flanked with personalized helium balloons, to the melody of "Friends Are Friends Forever," as last Saturday's celebration of their completion of their high school years got underway. Parents, relatives and friends were on hand for the memorable event, which was presided over by Mistress of Ceremonies Cindy Smith, a former member of the class who now attends school in Wetaskiwin.

Dianne deMoissac and Lori Porcina opened the proceedings with a moving invocation. Kim Kurek and Rhonda Rupchan entertained with their performance of "That's What Friends Are For."

Principal Jim Hawkins offered congratulations to "a group of optimistic people who are about to step out into a world...where it may not always be easy to keep those dreams alive." He, however is "confident the Class of '92 will be able to face problems with

"Where do we go from here?"

Six members of the Class of 1992 were the toast of Heinsburg Community School last Friday night, as they were congratulated on the completion of twelve years of education at their Graduation Ceremonies.

The evening began with a sumptuous banquet prepared by the Heinsburg Community Club, at which Shirley Osinchuk offered Grace, Stephanie Anderson gave a toast to the parents, with a reply by Walter Anderson, a toast to the grandparents was given by Morgan Desjarlais and a toast to the staff by Adrian Abraham with a reply by Lorne Young.

The Graduation Exercises were held in the school gym, against a black backdrop decorated with the theme in pearlized silver, pink roses and sparkling green leaves. Graduands Adrian Abraham, Stephanie Anderson, Morgan Desjarlais, Stacey Laboucane, Sarah Osinchuk and Leanne Parenteau entered the gym and ascended the stage accompanied by a solo, "The Dance," by Randy Parenteau. Kirsten Sanders accompanied the singing of O Canada. An invocation, in the words of a poem entitled 'I Feel Good' by former St. Paul teacher Anne Lindgren, was given by Leanne Laboucane.

Student Council Vice President Darren Skolarchuk welcomed the crowd on behalf of the students and congratulated the graduands. He ended his humorous remarks on the "first times" experienced in life with the advice that the grads should "never say never" to opportunities they encounter.

MLA John Drobot brought wishes on behalf of the Province and the Minister of Education, and congratulated the parents of the graduands on seeing their hopes and aspirations for their children fulfilled. To the graduands, regard-

Recreation park development

The Elk Point Recreation Park, which had its official opening May 9, is still a favorite topic with Town Council, who discussed further developments at the site during their May 11 meeting.

Fencing in the ball diamond area had previously been discussed, but the action taken is a compromise between players and spectators who wish to park along the sides of the diamonds, and the Town, who wants to make the area as safe as possible for those using the diamonds. To this end, the area surrounding the concession / washroom booth and the playground has been fenced, and the rest left open to permit vehicle parking. It was noted that this may pose a problem for those wishing to charge admission to view tournament play, but this can be worked out later.

The bike trail which approaches the Rec Park from the southwest corner of the Town limits was also considered. Considerable erosion has occurred, and has been partly repaired by Public Works, but would need far more work to obtain a trail safe for all ages of users. It was suggested that Community Services look into the possibility of obtaining a grant which may be available from Shell Oil for environmentally conscious projects such as this. It may also be possible to surface the trail using waste oil, if this meets with ERCB regulations, and if the oil is available.

Elk Point RCMP Detachment is going to be keeping a close eye on the Rec Park, in order to curb a rash of vandalism incidents.

Giant mascot Peter Fidler will soon find himself up to his boot fringes in greenery. Elk Point 4-H MultiClub has volunteered to plant flowering bushes around the statue. The site will also be graced with benches and signage, which comes from a $1300 donation from the Elk Point Elks Lodge. The cement sign will be incorporated into the area, following a concept by Hub DeSign of St. Paul.

Bicentennial signage details have been worked out, and all that is left is to obtain permission from Alberta Transportation to install the 8 foot by 16 foot sign, which can be done by Graphica for the sum of $1500. It will cost the Town another $1200 for posts and installation.

Councillor Adele Mandryk reported that the Bicentennial souvenir book was ready to go to press, with 10,000 of the 32 page collection of Bicentennial facts and trivia to be published.

Ms Mandryk also reported on the Northern Lights Library System Annual Meeting, at which she was named Vice Chair. Ron Young of Grand Centre is the Chairman and Dave Laschuk of St. Paul is the Treasurer. The contract for NLLS Headquarters renovation has been given to R. Vincent of Bonnyville, for $147,869 worth of work which is scheduled for completion by June 23. The contractor has been encouraged to use sub-trades from the region.

The old Pioneer Circle Hall, which previous to that time was once the Legion Hall, will have another new name as soon as a sign can be painted. Council agreed to call the building 'Peter Fidler Centre' for the balance of 1992, with Council to consider at the end of the year if they wish that name to be permanent. The building will be the site of the Peter Fidler Family Reunion on the August long weekend. It is also the site of the weekly Farmers Market.

Council was told that the Peter Fidler town pins are very popular, and it was decided to order 2000 more of these, for sale at $1 each, so they will be on hand for the busy summer months.

Wawanesa, Manitoba. Pop. 512. Back in 1896 it was even smaller. That was the year a group of farmers from around Wawanesa way got together to insure each other because no one else would sell them the protection they needed.

If they'd known they were founding one of the largest Canadian insurance companies they would probably have called it The Grand United Empire Mutual Insurance Company. But just plain Wawanesa is fine with us. Reminds us how we started. With people helping people.

We try to keep it that way. Our brokers sell a full line of insurance products competitively priced. They get fast settlements and they get all the help they need — when they need it, where they need it. That's good for the policyholder!

RCMP Celebrate Canada 125

Elk Point RCMP officers joined Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department and the Town of Elk Point for a barbecue and display of emergency response equipment in the Elks Hall parking lot last Friday. The youngsters found great enjoyment in clambering on the fire trucks and taking their turn behind the wheel of the police car. The event was held in celebration of Canada's 125th Birthday.

Banks join to raise funds for kids

The Province of Alberta Treasury Branch and the Toronto Dominion Bank will be holding a joint-effort mini carnival on Friday, May 22 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. to raise funds for the Children's Health Foundation of Northern Alberta. The Town of Elk Point has granted permission for the street between the TD Bank and Capitol Drugs to be closed off for the event. Radio LW will be doing a live broadcast from 1 to 5 p.m.

Events include ring toss, golf putting and a fish pond. Debra Kilby will be doing face painting from 1 to 3 p.m. Hot dogs will be barbecued and sold throughout the day. If you are upset with Mark, the Treasury Branch manager, or Gord, the TD manager, come down and throw a pie in their face anytime between 2 and 4 p.m. We will have 'half the house' tickets for the rooster "doing his job" on the numbered squares.

Come down and join the staff from the Treasury Branch and the TD for a fun afternoon and help raise funds for the Children's Health Foundation of Northern Alberta. If you are unable to make it down for the afternoon, phone either the Treasury Branch or the TD and make your pledge. Donations will be accepted anytime until the close of business on May 24, 1992.

Get set to participact!

Just one short week from today is Elk Point's Great Participaction Challenge. Have you planned your activity yet?

Gail Kozicky and Vicki Brooker have been busy arranging some fun ways to keep fit and to take part in the Challenge.

Just one of these is to try your hand at TENNIS. From 10:00 to 10:45 a.m. and from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Jim and Amy Hawkins will be at the Tennis Courts behind A. G. Ross Arena to demonstrate the techniques of this popular sport, and to loan you a racket so you can give it a whirl.

Or, you could head out to the Elk Point Recreation Park, and visit the Elk Point Golf and Country Club, where you can enjoy a round of GOLF. If you don't have any clubs, don't worry—these are available for rent at the clubhouse.

The HIKING trails are also ready for use. Either take a look around on your own, or be at the trailhead by the Picnic Shelter at 3:30 or 4:30 p.m. for a guided tour of the picturesque wooded slopes of the Atimoswe Valley. Why not bring along your camera?

The Participaction Committee has also gotten permission to close off part of Main Street for noon hour activities. We aren't just sure yet what these will be, so watch next Tuesday's paper for further details!

Once you have completed your activity, we would like you to report it, so your 15 minutes or more will be added to the Elk Point tally. Elk Point is competing against St. Paul to see which town will have the largest percentage of their population involved in Participaction. This year, we will be having registration sheets at the Tennis Court during both sessions, at the Golf Course all day until 7 p.m., and at the Hiking Trail trailhead during the guided walks. Or, you can phone in to 724-3800 from 9:00 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. to register with the Community Services staff and volunteers.

We also have contests for you to enter. Anyone taking part in the above activities will have the opportunity to enter their name in a draw for a Participaction t-shirt or pins. There will also be a t-shirt draw for anyone who arrives at the Elk Point Choral Society Concert wearing sneakers!

Speaking of sneakers, do you have a really grungy pair hidden away somewhere? If so, bring them down to the Elk Point Review office, where they will be tagged with your name and phone number, and stored in a sealed bag until the time comes to judge the STINKY SNEAKER CONTEST. You could win a bright new t-shirt to wear with your delapidated tennies! Entry deadline is 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, May 26.

Gail and Vicki could use some help with the Participaction activities. If you have an hour to spare to lead a hike through the Rec Park trails, if you would like to volunteer an hour or two to man the phone at the Community Services Office (especially between 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.), or if you have some wild and crazy ideas for the noon hour activities on Main Street, give Vicki a call at 724-4087 or call Community Services at 724-3800.

In Our View

Travelling down asphalt trails

I will call them asphalt - perhaps they are concrete - whatever they are made from, they cover the land we travel on, when we visit the cities of our land. More and more acres of soil disappear forever under the gray cover of paving.

For those who must drive those streets and highways, this is a great plan, and they rejoice. For myself, I see good arable soil, usually the best around, go down to a forgotten grave under the long gray trail of our roadways, town and city streets. 'Twas ever thus - and likely will ever be.

I'm not so aware of this, when I stay home, or drift into town now and then, for we still have a deal of gravel

(which covers the arable soil as well as does the asphalt) but we are so used to that, we forget what was once below it. Asphalt makes us go faster, and further, with less effort. In a busy city, this makes a country chicken such as myself quite terrified. Although I've seen no major crash-ups, I know they are going to take place any second, probably right where I am. All this bustle and noise makes me leary of traffic, so it's a great relief to find myself in a calm, cool, quiet place - right in the center of a city.

Such was my reaction, as I entered the calm, cool, comfortable confines of the Muttart Conservatory, at 9626 - 96 A Avenue, almost in the heart of Edmonton, a guest of my daughter-in-law Ann, as we filled a bit of time, before the graduation ceremonies her daughter Joy Lianne would partake in, the following day. I had been invited to watch.

The Muttart Conservatory was designed, my little brochure tells me, in the early 1970s, by one Peter Hemingway, and opened for visitors in 1976, with the addition of a greenhouse area in 1980. Half of the $2 million cost was met by the Gladys and Merrill Muttart Foundation, which accounts for the name it bears. The Province of Alberta and the City of Edmonton paid the remainder of the costs.

Comprising a growth of four "pyramids," each housing a distinct type of plant growth, they are bound together by a greenhouse / information area / gift shop and lunch room. As we entered and paid the small fee, we picked up literature.

Having gotten our bearings, we proceeded to the first of our objectives. All parts of the Conservatory are wheelchair accessible, so we went up the ramp into the first pyramid, this one marked Show. Overflowing with gorgeous flowers, I believe the Martha Washington geraniums were most prevalent, bright pink the predominating color. Many other flowers smiled for us, as we wandered the little paths, while greenery hung overhead in the bright sun.

Our next venture was into the Tropical area, where palm trees, bananas, and so many other odd and exotic plants prevail. Orchids waved almost in our faces, and below the trees and shrubs many unusual and very odd-shaped plants vied for attention. In this warm, humid area, we realized the heat of day, one of our warmest of the spring. In one area, a large cage held a number of parrots and other tropical birds, some chirruping away, in their native tongue. A few flew loose, overhead.

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

The Temperate Pavilion was rife with plants we all know, including a bunch of wild ladyslippers, in bloom, as well as other plants typical of the temperate zones. I surely wouldn't recognize them, but little tags said here were elm, redwood, oak and magnolias. Through the center runs a small, trickling stream, overhung with ferns, afloat with lilies, and the dark, thick branches of a dense pine shading the little dell. Blue rhododendrons mingled with - our papers said - sugar maples, holly and sequoia. I'm sure it would take days to identify all this lovely growth.

The Arid Pavilion was our last stop. Hot in the afternoon sun, the sandy soil and towering cactus are indeed desert-like. There by our feet was a spiny, prickly cactus. One could imagine running into such a thing on the desert and being ripped to shreds; however, today it sports a large, beautiful flower, almost rose-like in its color and shape, perched like a bird on a rock, there on the round thorned ball. Weird and wonderful, these plants of our far-flung earth!

We stopped briefly in the gift shop, so many things to admire! A cool drink, then out into the sunny May day. Robins chirped in the leafy overhead. Over this green, uncluttered area, the tall buildings of Edmonton rose, intimidating against the scattered clouds. We cranked down the windows to clear the oven-heat of the car, and were soon on our way.

Placing blind trust into my driver's hands, I watched the traffic swirl by, glad I wasn't driving. Ann hasn't been a driver long, but she has perfect confidence in her ability, and proved it by doing everything right. This was an off-travelled route, but she does as well on unknown asphalt trails. It must help to be born to it, when the clash and clatter are as commonplace as a cow mooing, or a coyote's wail.

Later, we shopped, and attended the Graduation of some 400 young persons at the Jubilee Auditorium (or the 'Jube' as some say), the following day. Soon it was time to let the bus transport me over the asphalt trails to home, smoothly, quickly, safely. May I hint that I brought the rain with me?

Lobby your MLA

To the Editor:

The following is an excerpt from a submission made to the Electrical Energy Marketing Act Review Panel by the Elk Point Curling Club.

The Curling Club believes that elimination of the Act would seriously affect not only the costs of our operation, but the costs of every business, recreational facility and residence in northern Alberta.

We urge those affected to lobby your MLA to keep the Electrical Energy Marketing Act (EEMA) in force.

Alberta Electrical Energy Marketing Act Review Panel
May 6, 1992

Dear Sirs:

The Elk Point Curling Club believes that the Electrical Energy Marketing Act must stay in place. We have had the opportunity to review the history of the Act and events leading up to its implementation.

We believe that EEMA is a fair and consistent method of distributing wholesale electrical energy to all Albertans, and that its continuation is not only consistent with originally established objectives, but crucial to the economic survival of our club.

We have had the opportunity to consider what effect an elimination of EEMA would do to our organization, and believe that it would cause an increase in our annual power costs of approximately 30 percent. This extra power cost would require us to raise dues by 60 percent, and would be totally unacceptable to our membership, quite likely leading to a drastic drop in membership.

Considering that our club has been struggling to survive financially for several years, (and we are aware of numerous other clubs, businesses, etc. in the same predicament) we have no doubt that any increase of this size in our costs, would lead to the eventual demise of curling in Elk Point.

We most emphatically urge the Review Panel to consider the ramifications, and recommend retention of the Electrical Energy Marketing Act. Respectfully,
The Elk Point and District Curling Society

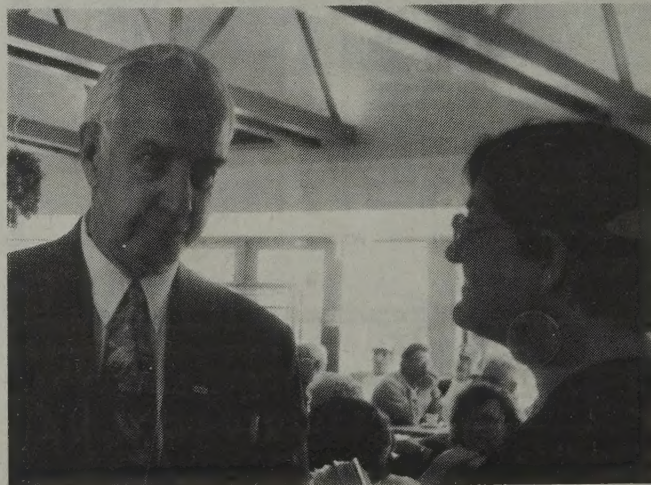

A small contingent from the Fort George - Buckingham House Bicentennial Society travelled to Vermilion last Wednesday, May 13, to invite the 300 - plus members of the Yellowhead Highway Caravan to the Bicentennial. The 100 vehicle caravan was en route from Lloydminster to Jasper to celebrate the completion of twinning the highway across Alberta.

Yellowhead caravan

Vermilion was the first stop for the caravan participants, and they were warmly welcomed by a piper, 22 people in the costumes of their native lands, and a coffeetime feast. Vermilion Mayor Hughes and Lakeland Tourist Association President Sheri Heller were on hand to welcome Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski, Alberta's Minister of Transportation Al 'Boomer' Adair, MLA Steve West and numerous other dignitaries. Local poet Lloyd Seath had a 'Song Of The Yellowhead' to impart for the occasion.

Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland, Elk Point Town Councillor Adele Mandryk and Society member Sherry Pelech, all in fur trade era costume, circulated among the guests, handing out Elk Point brochures packed with information about the upcoming Bicentennial events. Numerous displays and a performance by the High School band were also on the agenda, before the travellers set off to continue their 620 km journey westward.

Invitation For 'Boomer'

Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland extended a personal invitation to Transportation Minister Al 'Boomer' Adair, when the Bicentennial Brigade met the Yellowhead Caravan in Vermilion last week.

Joint installation for Elks and Royal Purple

Elk Point BPO Elks and Order of Royal Purple lodges held their joint installation of officers for the 1992-93 year Friday night, with District Deputies Greg Young and Erica Bender as the Grand and Supreme Installing Officers. Brothers Dean Williamson, John Pankow and Glen Gibbons, and Ladies Lena Stepa and Lois Sharek served as their assistants for the ceremonies, while the OORP Drill Team escorted the Assistant Installing Officers as they brought each new officer forward.

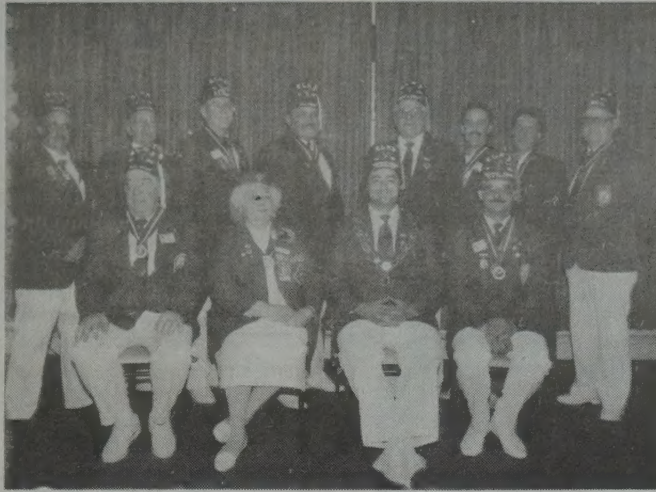

Sharon Algot, formerly pianist with the lodge, will preside over the Elk Point OORP this year as Honored Royal Lady. She succeeds Mary Kryvenchuk, who will now be the Past Honored Royal Lady. The Honored Royal Lady's team consists of Marie Buck as Associate Royal Lady, Alma Bettcher as Loyal Lady and Genevieve Shmyr as Lecturing Lady, with Alvina Schuhmacher as Secretary, Lois Yaremkevich as Treasurer, Pearl Anderson as Conductress, Leona Moneta as Inner Guard, Pat Johnson as Outer Guard, Lillian Ewasiuk as Historian, Adeline Zenko as Chaplain and Florence Demchuk as Pianist.

Bill Jennissen is the new Exalted Ruler for the BPOE. He succeeds Brian Schnurer, who now will fill two positions, that of Past Exalted Ruler and of Secretary for the lodge. Mike Chubey will be Leading Knight, George Dikeman the Loyal Knight and Randy Ballas the Lecturing Knight, with Elmer Bjornstad in his perennial post as Treasurer, Tony Bochon as Esquire, Rodney Pacholek as Inner Guard, Murry Neilsen as Tyler, Ron Fraess as Chaplain, Bill Schuhmacher as Historian and David Buksa as Publicity Chairman.

Jennissen thanked his Brother Elks for the honor of being elected their leader, and said "I've wanted to be up here since 1980." Mrs. Algot, on the other hand, has "not been waiting any years" for her new position. She thanked Past Honored Royal Lady Kryvenchuk for a job well done, and her sisters in the lodge for bestowing her with the honor of leading them.

PHRL Kryvenchuk said she felt "like a teacher on the last day of school, already missing my pupils," and expressed hope that the cooperation in the lodge will continue. She congratulated the newly installed officers, and read them "A Recipe For Success."

Past Exalted Ruler Schnurer said he felt like a student on the last day of school, at least until he had heard the Installing Officer read the list of duties for his new position. The past year has been fulfilling, he said, and "I could not have achieved what I have without the membership." He presented a set of hall keys to the new Exalted Ruler, while HRL Algot presented a PHRL bar to Mrs. Kryvenchuk and a Treasurer's pin to former treasurer Erica Bender.

► Competing successfully in the office-furniture market demands high quality and competitive pricing. Canadian companies provide both, which would explain why they export more than $300 million worth of office furnishings annually.

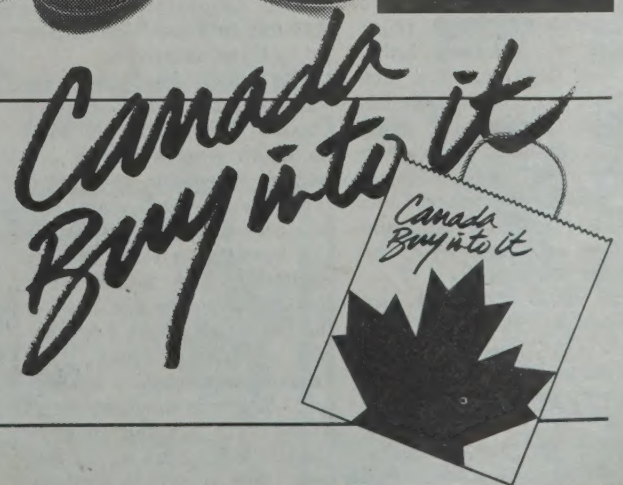

► Canada's recreational watercraft builders experienced some rough sailing during the recession. But with better times ahead and better products on the market, the future looks a lot brighter. That's good news for boating enthusiasts and the 3,000 Canadians who work in this $300 million industry.

► Small appliances aren't small when it comes to job creation. Some 5,000 workers in 65 companies produce nearly $500 million worth of small electrical appliances in Canada. No small achievement!

Wise Words

a positive and challenging attitude." He thanked all who helped to prepare for the event, including Cheri Linquist who gave up time from her maternity leave to come back and assist, and Denise Amyotte, who spent considerable time assisting the grads.

The Class had two valedictorians, Kristin Kittlitz and Colin Bjorkman, who shared in telling their classmates and the audience "Today we realize it is time to say goodbye...and thank you. Our future decisions will be affected by all we have been taught...the dreams and ideals we will keep alive will give us goals to work toward...obstacles may make you change those goals, but you must never stop creating new dreams. Don't just sit back. The realization of a dream is worth the hard work...be flexible and realistic. Know where you want to be. Reach for the stars, but don't be disappointed if you reach the moon. Make the most of each moment...and don't forget to dream."

Bonny Lecopoy and Jason Pilisko gave a humorous history of the entire class, touching on "most of the truth" of what happened over the years, including field trips, camping at Whitney Lake, and later developments such as trying to get the Grade 12s together to plan for grad, memories which "provide a tenuous bond" to the Class of '92. Denis Jasinsky and Lana Kozicky presented pins and scrolls as each member of the class was introduced.

The Class also had two Presidents. Jason Pankiw said it was "quite an experience to be the president of such a diverse class." He remarked on his classmates' maturity and responsibility, and noted that they had financed the celebration with numerous tasks, including laying sod, cleaning and crowd control. Kim Kurek told her classmates "you have showed us this year you are ready" to face the challenges of the adult world. "We have many memories of the good times. Keep them within your hearts." In closing, she thanked the MC, Mrs. Lindquist and Mrs. Amyotte for their valuable input to the day, and presented gifts of appreciation.

Mrs. Lindquist looked back at "a grad week when things looked like they would never come together," and noted that this year's celebration included several changes in format from previous years. The Class of 1991 had established a scholarship, she noted, and its presentation for the first time was one of the changes. Kim Kurek was the proud recipient. Mrs. Lindquist also said that this was the 20 year reunion for the Class of 1972, of which grad parents Beverley (Modin) and Ivan Peterson, and Holly (Cinnamon) Myshaniuk, and her own husband Jim were part.

Melinda Ockerman and Shaun Blize presented gifts of appreciation to the two Class Presidents.

Sherry Oszust entertained with a delightful solo, "One Moment In Time," accompanied by Cynthia Adkins.

The day's guest speaker was a member of F. G. Miller's Class of 1987; a former Miss Lakeland who is now a successful television news anchorwoman, Katherine Mistol. She said the ceremony had brought "a flood of fond memories and mixed emotions. Five years ago I sat in the front row where Lori Porcina is sitting today." Elk Point is important to Ms. Mistol. "There is nowhere else I would have wanted to grow up. It's a big part of my success." She urged the students to keep in their hearts "a place where dreams may grow and change." Her dream was to be a model, but four months in Toronto realizing that dream rendered her homesick and ready to return west. She did so, and attended NAIT, where she "enjoyed what I was doing, even 17 hour days." A few months after she completed her course, she "got a chance at CFRN, and I've never looked back." She told of her recent trip to the Ukraine, and indicated that "even though it doesn't seem like hard work will pay off, it does." She congratulated the Class of '92 "for making it here today" and their parents, "who have every right to be proud." For herself, she said, the day brought "a great pleasure to return home."

Following the playing of God Save The Queen by Denise Adkins, the recessional began, with the Class of '92 leaving the exercises to the song, "Goodbye."

Staying clean

The Lindbergh Environmental Study Group met on April 28 at King George Hall to discuss the results of recent air and water studies with the public. Representatives of all three major oil companies which formed the group were on hand, with Allan Frankiw of Norcen Energy Resources chairing the meeting.

Results of last October's review of all Lindbergh oil-field air quality monitoring data between November 1984 and December 1990, which was compiled and compared to the allowable concentrations of pollutants, according to government standards.

Environmental expert Phil Ullman said that the data was collected with the use of sulphation stations, which are located around each of the projects to measure hydrogen sulphide and total sulphation on a monthly basis, and air monitoring trailers which are used for several months out of the year to measure sulphur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide, carbon monoxide, total hydrocarbons and non-methane hydrocarbons. All data included 14 months of continual sampling in 1984-85.

Total sulphation, oxides of nitrogen and carbon monoxides were not once recorded as exceeding the maximum permissible concentrations during the period. Sulphur dioxide had one hourly violation in 1984 out of 60,000 hourly readings. Hydrogen sulphide did not exceed the maximum on the sulphation exposure cylinder readings, but was recorded at over the limit on 72 out of 69,642 hourly readings in the monitoring trailers over the seven years.

John Olson of Sentar Consultants Ltd., a subsidiary of Stanley Associates Engineering Ltd., said that groundwater quality in domestic water wells throughout the area has been surveyed on an annual basis since 1985, with 85 wells surveyed in 1991. A full analysis for routine potability parameters was made from 1985 to 1989, with only five indicator parameters tested for in 1990 and 1991.

No significant overall trends were noted in the data as a whole. The concentration of phenols increased very slightly in nine wells in 1991. Eight of these wells are of the bored variety, and it was noted that deteriorating well cribbing could have some effect by letting near-surface groundwater into a well of this sort. These wells were not concentrated in a single area. Nitrates and nitrites were noted as being of higher concentration in shallow wells, but decline of concentration was noted in these between 1990 and 1991.

Heinsburg graduation

ing their theme, "Where do we go from here," he said, "only time can tell. We wish you well."

Valedictorian Sarah Osinchuk also spoke of firsts, from the first steps to the first day of school, first day of junior high, first successes and first failures. As her classmates embark "on a great adventure, into the world like an explorer into the great unknown," she told them of the opportunity they would have to try their hand at the old adage, "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again." She spoke of the memories the grads had made together, but said "I still don't believe the boys won that banner!"

It was Miss Osinchuk's duty, as a member of the graduating class, to pass on the school colors to Grade 11 student Arlene Bendixen. The significance of the colors, which are comprised of a beaded eagle feather and a war bonnet, was explained by Mistress of Ceremonies Sandra Bishop.

Class Colors

Sarah Osinchuk (left) passed the school colors to Arlene Bendixen in a ceremony which has become a traditional part of Heinsburg graduations over the years.

Viola Dumont and Ken Klein represented Northlands School Division, and presented gifts to former students of J. F. Dion School in Fishing Lake, Stephanie Anderson, Leanne Parenteau, Morgan Desjarlais and Stacey Laboucane. Randy Parenteau offered greetings from the Fishing Lake Settlement Council, of which he is Vice Chairperson. Good wishes were also expressed by County of St. Paul's Deputy Superintendent of Schools Carmen Brodziak, while other wishes came from the Frog Lake Band.

The sole remaining members of the Heinsburg Kindergarten Class of 1979-80, Adrian Abraham and Stacey Laboucane, gave the remarks on graduands: Leanne and Stephanie, who joined them in Grade 7, Morgan, in Grade 8, and Sarah, who came from Clandonald School in Grade 10, as well as each other.

Bruce Desjarlais, chairman of the J. F. Dion School Board, told the audience that J. F. Dion and Heinsburg Schools have been associated since 1969, with the first Fishing Lake students graduating from Heinsburg in 1975. Since then, 45 students have graduated, and have taken up various occupations, many of them at the settlement. He urged students to continue their education as this will help them to open many doors in the future. He presented Heinsburg Principal Laverne Wilson with a handsome plaque recognizing the 23 years of cooperation, and another honoring the 1992 grads.

Member of Parliament Deborah Grey was the guest speaker, and kept the rapt attention of the grads with her advice to "learn to laugh, at your self, first and foremost, and at situations which look a little ridiculous." Regarding the theme, she said that "where you go next is up to you. It's exciting but terrifying." She suggested they do as olympic athletes do, striving to be "swifter, higher, stronger...when your training is done, you are ready to compete. Your community, friends and family have given you roots, they will now give you wings." She presented cards to each graduand.

MP Speaks

MP Deborah Grey kept the rapt attention of the grads with her humorous and thought provoking message.

County Councillor Bob Smith presented County pins, while Superintendent of Schools Ted Cabaj presented scrolls.

Adrian Abraham presented gifts of appreciation to Miss Grey, Mrs. Bishop, Miss Loree Aarbo and Randy Parenteau.

Laverne Wilson had the traditional 'last word,' telling the graduands they have been "a plus to our school" and thanking the parents for their assistance through the years. He commented that at the Grade 9 prom three years ago, the class was 30 in number, and had as a theme "Will we ever get there?" By Grade 10, the class had shrunk to 22 members, and now is only six, with the rest either in other schools or in the work force.

An emotional solo by Loree Aarbo, "Goodbye, My Friends," set the theme for the moving finale of the exercises, as graduands took vases of roses from the stage and presented them, with hugs, to their parents as they started their recessional.

Kurash Memorial Award

John Calliou (left) of the Elk Point Wolverines and Michael Calliou of the Elk Point Blades were presented with the Alex Kurash Memorial Award by Minor Hockey President Al Pankiw, who holds the large challenge trophy.

Minor hockey windup

Elk Point Minor Hockey wound up their year with a potluck supper and roller blading party on May 9, with the winter's stars on ice ready and eager to try out this popular new sport.

Minor Hockey President Al Pankiw thanked his past year's executive, the coaches, parents and players for their parts in "a tremendous year...which will be difficult but not impossible to follow." He listed the 1992-93 Minor Hockey executive, which sees him holding the presidency for another year, with Dave Kenyon remaining as Past President and Gwen Morris as Treasurer, and Elaine Babenek elected as Vice President and Betty Calbeck as Secretary. Directors are Don Woytkiw, Dwayne Moneta, Tony Peters, Kevin Bjornstad, Glenn Harms, Marshall Moroziuk, Jerry Kopeck, Yvonne Dunlop, Diane Hawryluk, Ron Croteau and Doug Bassett. Marshall Moroziuk also serves as Bingo Coordinator.

Pankiw outlined the background of the Alex Kurash Memorial Fund, which was started with the donation of $500 won by the Pee wee team two years ago, and the criteria for which was determined by a committee headed by Louise Kurash. The award goes to a pee wee age player who shows definite improvement in skills, a positive attitude, promotional ability, coachability, a desire to learn and who was not recognized with any other award. One member of each 1991-92 pee wee team was selected for the honor, with replica trophies presented to Michael Calliou of the Blades and to John Calliou of the Wolverines. Congratulations!

Physics Whiz

Stephen Bayduza shows FGM Physics teacher Ray Hellquist the handsome text he brought home from the Physics Olympiad preliminaries in Vancouver. He will no doubt be studying some of its information before heading off to the national competition next week.

Bayduza tries for Olympiad

Stephen Bayduza, a Grade 12 student at F. G. Miller High School, is one of twenty students from across Canada who will attend a National Training Camp at the University of British Columbia later this month to compete for one of the five positions on the Canadian Physics Olympiad team.

Bayduza was chosen to attend the training after completing monthly sets of challenging and interesting physics problems each month through the year, and then attending a weekend session of lectures and laboratory sessions at UBC from April 30 to May 3. Approximately fifty students from western Canada were involved with the sets of problems, with the top 20 of these attending the weekend.

Lectures from Professor Chris Waltham on the Sudbury Neutrino Observatory, from Dr. Nathan Weiss on Problem Solving and from Dr. A. Kotlicki on Error Analysis, and both formal and informal laboratory sessions took up Friday and Saturday of Bayduza's visit to UBC. Saturday night featured visits to two labs, one with a scanning tunneling microscope, and the other belonging to Dr. Mark Halpern, who gave a talk on a project involving sending a rocket up to measure cosmic background radiation. Sunday was "the big test" with seven very difficult questions. "I took half an hour for most of them, and didn't finish, either. Most [participants] didn't," Bayduza said.

The answers must have been correct, however, because on Tuesday, May 12, Bayduza received word that he would be advancing to the next and more intensive level of competition, at which five participants will be selected to go on to the International Physics Olympiad in Helsinki, Finland, during July. Expenses for the upcoming trip to UBC will be paid by the Olympiad Committee, as will the expenses of those going on to Helsinki.

While completing his Grade 12 year is his immediate goal and the future is not too clear, Bayduza admits that the science of Physics is "probably involved."

Health Day well attended

Canada Health Day celebrations at Elk Point Municipal Hospital on Friday, May 8 gave a cheerful note to a grey and gloomy day, with a good crowd braving the showers to take in the bake, craft and white elephant sale, tea, displays and information sessions.

As usual, the bake sale table was filled to overflowing when the event opened, and near to empty just minutes later. Crafts and white elephants moved more slowly, but to good demand, with the Hospital Auxiliary taking in more than $575, with the addition of the tea donations. Patient John Rosychuk also had a table of crafts for sale to those who attended.

Displays on the topics of fitness and endurance, nutrition, the harmful effects of tobacco products, sun protection, and the Lifeline and Home Care programs offered useful information, and the model of the soon-to-be-built nursing home wing was of great interest. Licenced Practical Nurses were on hand to offer a blood pressure clinic. Videos on skin wellness and freedom from fat were shown throughout the afternoon.

Health Care History

Steve Andrishak's display of old-time remedies and hospital equipment was a popular spot during Hospital Day, May 8, when numerous visitors came to Elk Point Municipal Hospital for the annual Auxiliary Tea, Bazaar and Bake Sale, plus displays, videos and blood pressure clinic.

WHAT'S NEWS AT THE LIBRARY?

From May 7 to 10, librarian Doreen Mayner attended the Provincial Library Conference in Jasper. The conference was on "Marketing Matters." The keynote speaker, Suzanne Walters, was director of marketing and development for the Denver Public Library for almost ten years. She was an enthusiastic, talented speaker.

The whole conference was very stimulating and Doreen traded ideas with librarians from other communities all over Alberta. Many of us are facing the modern challenge of automating our rural libraries and were able to take workshop sessions on this subject. Doreen hopes to write about the role the library plays in rural development in a future news-letter.

A number of videos from the Northern Lights Library System video collection have arrived in our library. These are on Native issues. Included in the shipment are Circle Of The Sun; Cree Hunters Of Mistassini; It's Hard To Get It Here; Last Days Of Okak; Last Moose-skin Boat; Magic In The Sky; Poundmaker's Lodge: A Healing Place; Richard Cardinal: Cry From A Diary Of A Native Child Standing Alone and Native Indian Folklore. These videos will be in the library for six months.

The library recently received a new FAX machine from the Northern Lights Library System. Our FAX number is the same as our telephone number, 724-3737.

NEW BOOKS:

More Than A Rose: Prime Ministers, Wives and Other Women by Heather Robertson - "I'm more than just a rose in my husband's lapel!"

Margaret Trudeau once said. Although their lives have often been influential, interesting and controversial, the wives of the prime ministers and other women who exercised power over our elected leaders have remained obscure and incidental in Canada's history. In this provocative new book, the author reveals the true stories of the wives, mothers, mistresses and female politicians who lived with, worked with and loved our nation's leaders. Some of their stories tell of tragedy and personal destruction.

Ukrainian dance concert simply sensational

Every year, we remark that the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club has 'given their best concert ever' and express doubts that it could be improved upon. The next year, without exception, they prove us wrong.

Such was the case last Saturday, when those arriving at F. G. Miller High School for the evening found the gymnasium half filled with a gigantic stage, surrounded by greenery. Soon the room resounded with lilting music and the lights came up on a stage filled with 26 dancers from the Intermediate and Senior groups as they embarked on their award winning Pryveet dance, which was interspersed with dances of the Bukovinian, Poltavski and Hutzul regions, each done by dancers in the costume of that region.

The Perogy Dance was next on the program, with the Beginners showing the talents which earned them a gold medal, plaque and scholarship for this dance at North Battleford.

Young children gathering to exemplify the glorious rejuvenation that comes with spring were portrayed by the Junior group, in their lively Kozarchuk. They were followed by the Kozacks, three young men who won a silver medal for their difficult steps in North Battleford: Justin Malachowski, Robert Lychak and Aaron Jaremko. Three young ladies who also won silver, Dorothea Naber, Michelle Hillebrand and Reagan Croteau, were next with 'My Dancing Boots,' a tale of a young lady who dreams of owning her own pair of Ukrainian dancing boots.

Intermediate girls danced to celebrate the harvest, in the 'Zhintsi.'

A duet which won Melanie Malachowski and Steven Bayduza a gold medal in North Battleford and a trophy in Vermilion brought them wild applause from their hometown audience, as they danced in the distinctive costume of the Transcarpathian region. They were followed by another duet, this time by James and Taralee Babenek, with a joyous Coloveyka. The brother and sister pair won a silver medal in North Battleford for this dance.

The hardworking Adult group, fifteen strong, were next on stage, with the 'Veselka.' The high spirited dancers of the 'Volyn,' were the enthusiastic Seniors who won a silver medal in North Battleford for this dance. The Intermediate dancers wound up the first half of the concert with their rendition of the well known 'Hopak.'

Door prize draws were made during intermission with Andrea Stone winning a gift certificate from the Empress Restaurant, John Oryshchuk a gift certificate from Dave's Pizza, Melanie Blazenko a gift certificate from Debra Kilby Photography, Sylvia Boothman a floral arrangement from Ruby Hanna, Stephanie Lee glasses from the Dance Club, Dina Leaf shampoo from Single Styles and Amanda Leaf, a fruit basket from Co-op.

Young kozaks from the Senior and Intermediate groups displayed their gold medal efforts in the 'Zaparozh-tsi,' an ambitious dance involving tossing barrels from man to man, rambunctious swordplay, two man cartwheels and incredibly high leaps from this rough looking crew.

From there, we moved to the gentle winds of the Ukraine, with the Pre-Beginners and their 'Cheremshina.' Jovial movements and outgoing smiles of Charissa Brown and Tessa Sakowsky were highlights of the 'Dva Deerchata.'

Boys and girls came together in a moment of relaxation in a lighthearted dance by the Beginners, entitled 'Poltava,' which earned them a gold medal in North Battleford. Kenna Hillebrand and Chantelle Maas were next on stage, with their silver medal version of the beautiful 'Hutzulka.'

Another award winner, the Shawl Dance which earned the Senior girls a gold medal, two trophies and a scholarship at North Battleford, featured vibrant and graceful moves and left no doubt that every award was well deserved.

The Huzul boys travelled bravely down the river and through the forests to see their loved ones, in the Intermediate group's rendition of their gold medal winning Huzul Suite.

Tiny Jasmine Brown danced her way into the hearts of all the audience with her Vesna dance, which won her a scholarship at the Vermilion Music Festival.

The old problem of trying to get the boys to help with the household chores was the topic of 'Robota Robota,' which won the Junior dancers a gold medal in North Battleford. The battle of the sexes continued in 'Harvest Trio,' as Mary Kozak tried to tell brothers Mark and John how to do their work, until they rebelled. This dance won a silver medal in North Battleford.

The Adults appeared for their second time of the evening in the 'Holubar,' a contemporary folk dance of the Bukovinian region with a lively combination of steps, which won them a gold medal in North Battleford.

Then it was the Instructors' turn, with Ken Rylance and Debbie Kachmar dressed as babies in a humorous duet.

The concert wound up with the national dance of the Ukraine, with the Senior group in a lively Hopak. Gleaming satin pants, flying ribbon headdresses and elaborate velvet vests make this a very colorful number.

All dancers were called on stage for the presentation of certificates to the first year dancers, plaques to the second year members, and year plates to those with additional years of dancing experience. Gifts were presented to Lori Porcina, Stephen Bayduza and David Lychak, who are graduating from High School this year. A special award was also made to Jacob Jaremko, who hasn't missed a single dance practice since his birth in January 1991.

Wow!

What other word is there for this spectacular two-man cartwheel that was one of the highlights of the Seniors' gala 'Hopak?'

What's This Thing For?

The boys try to convince the girls that they just aren't cut out for domestic chores in the 'Robota Robota.'
